

Oldham and Camden Councils with The Royal Central School of Speech and Drama want to share the findings from exciting, new and innovative project work in communities focussing on PLACE.

You are invited to

UNFAMILIAREYES

FORGET WHAT YOU KNOW

7th March 9:30 - 2:00

Gallery Oldham - OL1 1AL

What can you expect?

Coffee. Welcome and introductions. Discussion around why attachment to places is important for wellbeing. Demonstration and reflection on two contrasting, successful projects in Oldham and Camden: one with adults in 24/7 supported living with mental health problems; another within a neighbourhood experiencing population change. Discussions, and questions... and a free lunch.

What will you leave with?

Step by step understanding of new project approaches to local places
Knowing how arts - based projects meet council agendas
New contacts with people to develop this work
Full documentation

To confirm your participation, please reply to:-
becky.proudfoot@oldham.gov.uk when further details will be sent.

The PLACE projects were the central focus of 'Performing Places: working with local councils to reach new communities and facilitate wellbeing in living environments' (2016-2017), an award funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council.

ROYAL CENTRAL
SCHOOL OF SPEECH & DRAMA
UNIVERSITY OF LONDON

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

